

Jenny Clarinet Uhl 48 Studies Boot Camp Guide

October-November 2018

#uhlbootcamp

Books required: Alfred Uhl 48 Studies

You will complete all the Uhl 48 Studies in October and November by practicing a different etude every day or every other day. I've organized this practice plan so you can complete all 48 studies in just two months!

The daily schedule includes one study to practice each day. I have divided longer and more technically demanding studies over two days. Because you will only spend 1-2 days on each study, the goal is to read through each in its entirety to gain a general understanding of the piece. Depending on your schedule and practice routine, you may decide to go further in depth for certain studies. This boot camp is not meant to be comprehensive, but rather to serve as a general introduction to the Uhl 48 Studies. I advise you to make note of your favorite studies to revisit for further practice after you have completed the boot camp. I have included one free day each month, which can be used as a day off or as an opportunity to review any previously assigned exercises.

Tempi will vary according to each exercise, and the goal is to be able to play through each study cleanly. I strongly suggest practicing each etude slowly with a metronome and having a pencil ready to mark the accidentals or any alternate fingerings you may need to use. For each study, make sure to record your tempo so that you know what speed to take when you revisit the piece. Prioritize accuracy and precision over speed. As always, this boot camp can be modified to accommodate your individual practicing schedule.

Be sure to join the Uhl Boot Camp community on Facebook by liking Jenny Clarinet and participating in the Facebook event pages, where boot campers will be posting videos, feedback, suggestions, encouragement, and moral support throughout the month! Connect with clarinetists on all social media platforms by using #uhlbootcamp to share your progress throughout the boot camp.

Happy practicing!
